“ Ever since I was a little child I thought of Fred as having one of the most genuine smiles ever. He had the kind of smile that let you know he cared about what you had to say and that you mattered. I won't forget it; and I saw it over and over again watching the pictures. Steve has often said that Fred was always so nice to him and treated him just like family from the very beginning. It's been awhile since our kids have seen Fred, but we've been praying....and when we shared the news that Fred had passed away, Maria and John started talking about how nice he was. Our condolences to the whole family.

“ Our condolences to Sherry and the family at this sad time. We go back years to when Fred married my husband's sister, Sherry, when they put down stakes in Elk River. Fred may be remembered in those days for having a very cool job, the kind that made most kids want to be just like him running heavy equipment, cutting and crushing cars, working with the big stuff. Years later, we noticed how much Fred really liked farming –growing stuff. And Fred was a good at it too –he produced some awesome looking tomato plants. I remember one time when they had come for a visit and brought a pickup load of rich black dirt from his field. I had ‘dead dirt’ and needing something better. We've known for a long time that Fred was one of the good guys, whose heart held a soft place for his people, his kids, and especially his grandkids. He will certainly be missed.
