“ I have many, many fond memories of Bob. What an honest and trustworthy person. When I was 15 I would work at my dad's shop after school and on Saturdays and my job was to help Bob make sheet metal duct work. He was a man of few words but one of many talents. He taught me my love for making something out of sheet metal. He was a master at it. There might have been some people in the USA that were as good as him but no one was better. I also can say that I have never known a more honest man than him. If he found a penny on the floor he would put it in the till. Sometimes we are blessed to know people of his caliber..... I know that I am blessed because I knew him.
God Bless you Bob, Rest in Peace.
